

Candidates for GNA Board of Directors

Zara Waldman DeLuca:

Zara Waldman DeLuca has lived in Glenbrook since 2018. A native of nearby South Salem, Zara enjoys the neighborhood feel of Glenbrook and can often be found running its streets early in the morning. Zara is currently the corresponding secretary (or social media manager) for GNA. She initially joined GNA to get to know her neighbors, and currently works to connect her neighbors with each other and resources to enrich our community. At present, Zara works as a professor at a local regional university.

Meryl McDaniel:

Meryl has enjoyed living in Glenbrook since 1998. Though not a Stamford native, she lived in the Roxbury neighborhood most of her life before attending college in Washington, DC and remaining in the DC suburbs until 1996.

Meryl moved to Glenbrook partly to take advantage of the train station as her husband was a daily commuter to NYC. We also loved the walkability of the neighborhood and all the conveniences it has to offer.

Meryl is currently working as an accountant for a consumer-packaged goods company that sells hair care and skin cleansing products.

Melanie Soper:

Melanie Soper has happily lived in Glenbrook since 2001. A daily commuter to NYC for 18 years, she has always appreciated the convenience of Glenbrook and the friendly neighborhood.

Melanie retired from work in the pharmaceutical industry, and now spends her time volunteering for GNA and other Stamford-area organizations, including STARelief & Pet Assistance and Stamford Health.

Melanie is married and the pet-parent of Dexter and Gus, a large cat and a small dog, respectively.

There are currently 3 candidates for 6 openings on the Board. If any members are interested in serving, please send your bio no later than 6pm , Tuesday, September 22, to: glenbrookneighborhoodassoc@gmail.com
